If you prefer to find your romance in more traditional places, these two brand new crochet patterns are a great way to bring the Valentine's Day feel into your home. The cute-as-a-button Love Bugs are a great gift - alone or wrapped up in a box together. The red and white granny-inspired dishcloth has a romantic feel to keep that loving feeling in your kitchen.

February isn't all about love..

There are other great holidays worth celebrating too! February 2nd is Groundhog Day! Once a year the groundhog emerges from its burrow - if it sees its shadow and runs back inside, legend says we'll have another six weeks of Winter. Boo! If you don't want to leave things to the professional groundhogs - crochet this little dude and make sure that there are no shadows to be seen!

In addition to being Valentine's Day, this year February 14th is also Chinese New Year. This important Chinese holiday is celebrated all over North America and the world. Ring in the 'Year of the Tiger' with this sweet amigurumi tiger with orange and black stripes.

Don't forget all of the other reasons February is important, from Black History Month, to President's Day, and of course Leap Day!
